I am so glad I have purchased this book! Just returned to USA from Greece and we referenced it quite a bit. The photos and maps were so helpful in recognizing landmarks. I would highly recommend this guide for anyone planning a trip to Greece.

I bought that book (Kindle edition) to plan my Greece trip and for further use during the trip. Unfortunately trip planning is literally impossible with this book. First of all this edition is totally unreadable on my Kindle - there are no table of contents!!! it is extremely difficult to find section which is needed, the only way to read all book through and make your own bookmarks. Finally i read it via Kindle app on my tablet, in that case i can see table of contents. Second problem is actually content of this book. There are a lot of information about Greek history, but very little about how to buy train or bus tickets (it is not so easy when you in Greece), how to get to interesting places and so on. Descriptions of many cities just about one page, where author just mentions few main places of interest, without any clue how to find them and that is it! Book organization is also very inconvenient. For instance, info about restaurants comes as separate chapter, where you have to find your city of interest first (it is not in the table of contents) and then few restaurant places - 2-3 per city with very little info. So, i rated this book really low because it doesn't serve its purpose. despite information about history and art is explicit, but i expected travel information because it was suppose to be TRAVEL guide. I find no useful info about trains, how to get from one attraction to the other, barely some info about food and restaurants... So i was totally waste of money for me.

Very short descriptions of locations or sites, practically useless. Probably because so many things to see, not enough space to cover in detail.

Bought this for my wife who is very pleased with it. She reads every page. I particularly like the history section and read those parts covering the areas that will be on our trip.
